PRHA provides information regarding Saskatchewan diagnostic review

Dauphin- The Saskatchewan Sunrise Health Region has informed the Parkland Regional Health Authority and Assiniboine Regional Health Authority that four years of work of a Yorkton, Saskatchewan radiologist is being reviewed, after diagnostic errors were discovered. It has not been confirmed that any Manitobans are part of this review, but it is possible that patients from the western part of the province may have been referred to this doctor.

In an abundance of caution, the Parkland Regional Health Authority is providing information about this situation to residents who may be concerned. Manitobans who had x-rays, CT scans, mammographies and ultrasounds performed in Yorkton since 2004, can call the Saskatchewan government's toll-free hotline at 1-877-854-4424 for more information. Manitobans can also speak with their family physician if they have concerns.
